About me

I am very passionate about art, technology, history, and gaming and often I write about them when I am not trying to improve my inept cooking. Currently I am a freelance contributor at Serpentor's Lair forum working on retro gaming and pinup curation. Moreover, I am currently editing an extensive work of fan fiction named Wing Commander: Vega Campaign set in the Wing Commander universe. In this capacity I am maintaining the writing rules and the lore guideline, I am coordinating three writers, and additionally I am in frequent contact with independent mod developers in order to integrate parts of our lore to their work, enhancing thus immersion. I am speaking English fluently (C2 level), whereas I am a beginner in both Italian and German (A2 level).
